Nostalgia, Sentiment, Knowledge, Expérience

This is Schalmont

[We are 18 years old today

They have taken away all of our toys]

This is our lasting memory of school

Hello, Hurry, let the show begin

We're ready

. . . The educational experience brings us together. [Well, life can be hard when you are holes in a card in some electronic hand.]

Six years of learning, forgetting,

running, stalling and

When all the children have grown weary of playing the game of being old, and

all the empty hallways have grown silent,

and all the empty seats have grown cold;

When the words upon the blackboard stare and wonder at how the day has slipped across your mind

When your friends have turned to strangers and the wind has ripped their faces

from your mind

[No one may leave this study hall until it is completely quiet. Each student must have a presigned pass to ride the late bus.

I can sit here as long as you, it doesn't matter when you take the . . .]

Good things like jamming 80 boys in the boys room at one time – or dropping eggs from balconies – term papers done the night before

[Jasper is alive and well]

seeing who can get out of the parking lot first and who can out-talk a teacher.

Feelings, Friendships, Memories and Hopes

all developing as the years go on.

Some fleeting, some lasting,

many forgotten

no more toys, no more fun

no more rolling paper towels in the halls.

All the children grown weary weary of being just students

all the empty hallways have grown silent and we are free, but are we?

Stairways that lead to our unique experiences that widen the door to open-mindedness.

And now we move on to deeper memories.

[I am a poor wayfaring stranger wandering through this world take the roads that we have walked along looking for tomorrow's time.]

WHO IS MARY B?

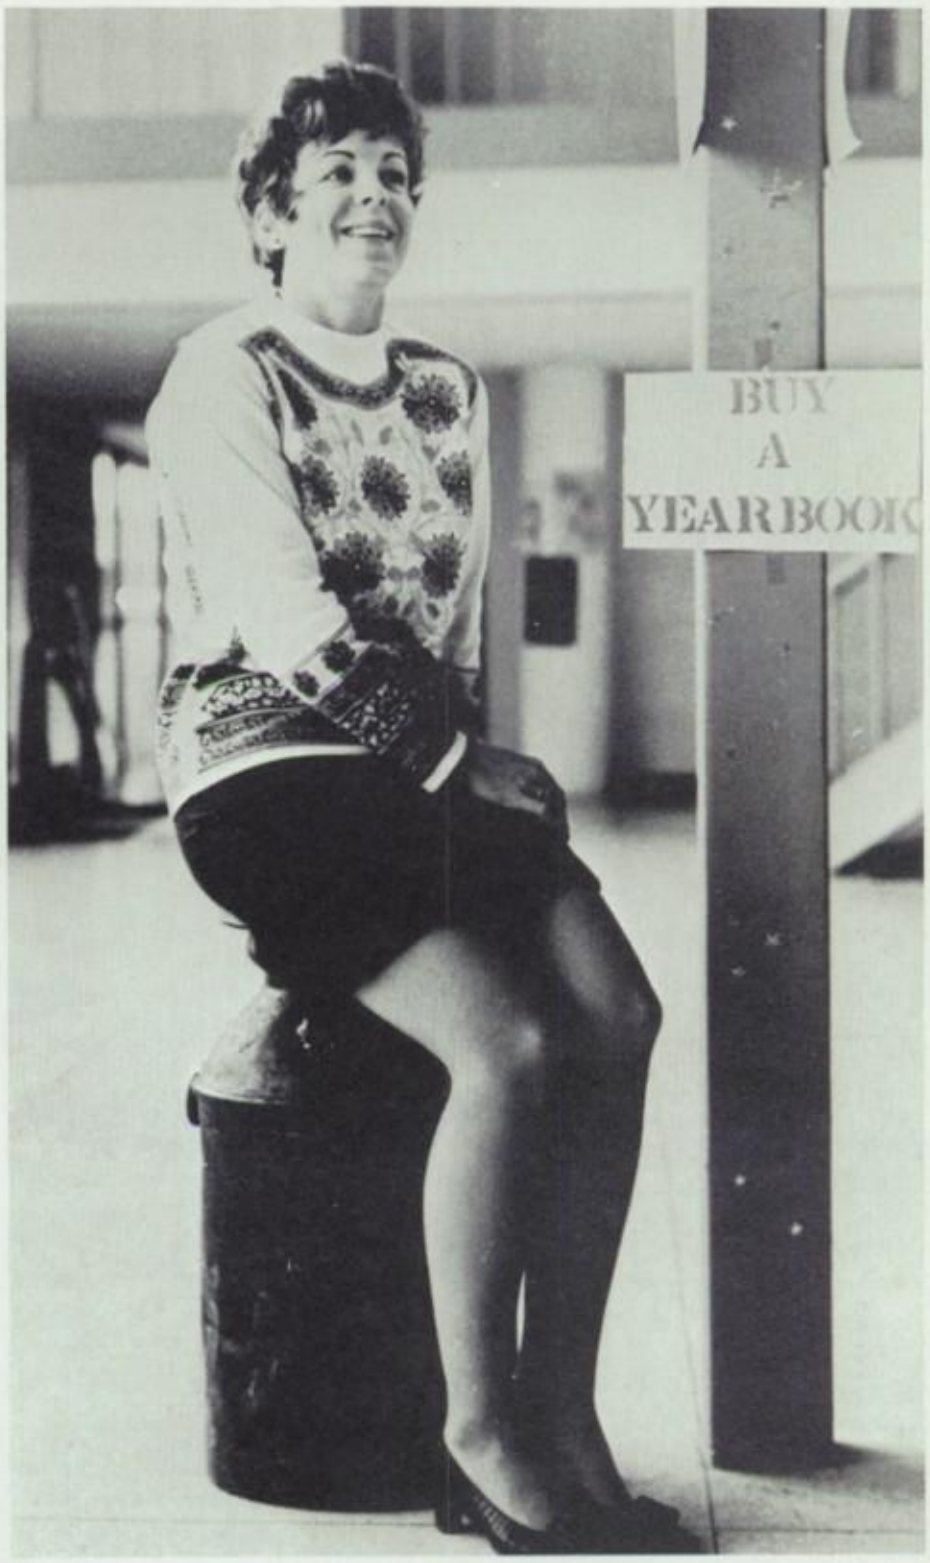
During our past four years as students at Schalmont, Miss Mary Breitenstein has guided our efforts as a class with a dedication and loyalty which has become essential to our success.

Throughout all our activities Miss Breitenstein has offered her support and shared our frustrations. She has not only been an advisor but a co-worker and a friend. It was her help and encouragement that taught us to work together, to overlook each other's faults, and to become a class united. It is this unity which has been our unique feature.

It is with sincere appreciation and deep gratitude that we, the class of 1970, dedicate this year's Le Sabre to Miss Mary Breitenstein.

Mary B. was our advisor. She is our friend.

DEDICATION



THIS IS SCHALMONT
THIS IS SCHALMONT

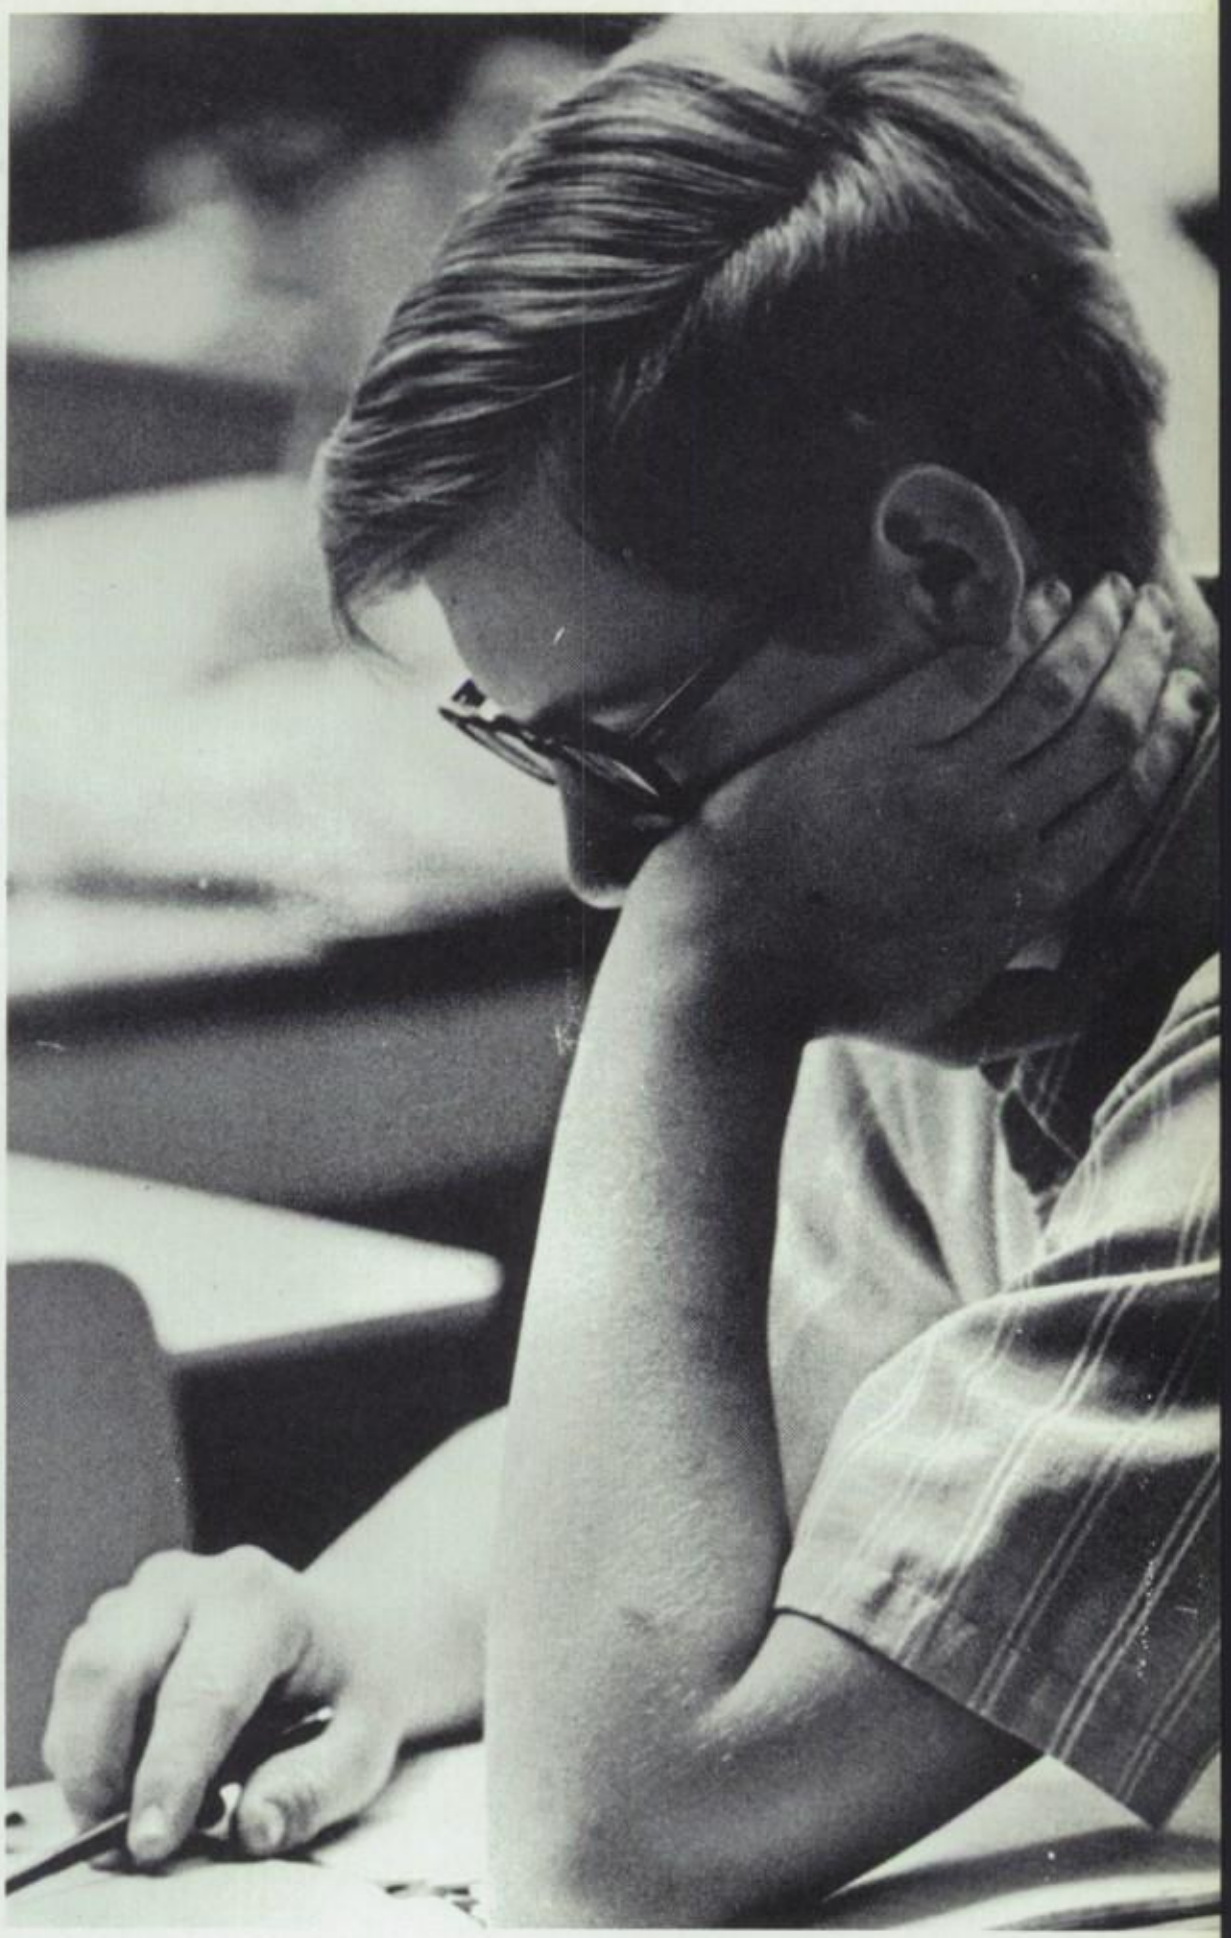
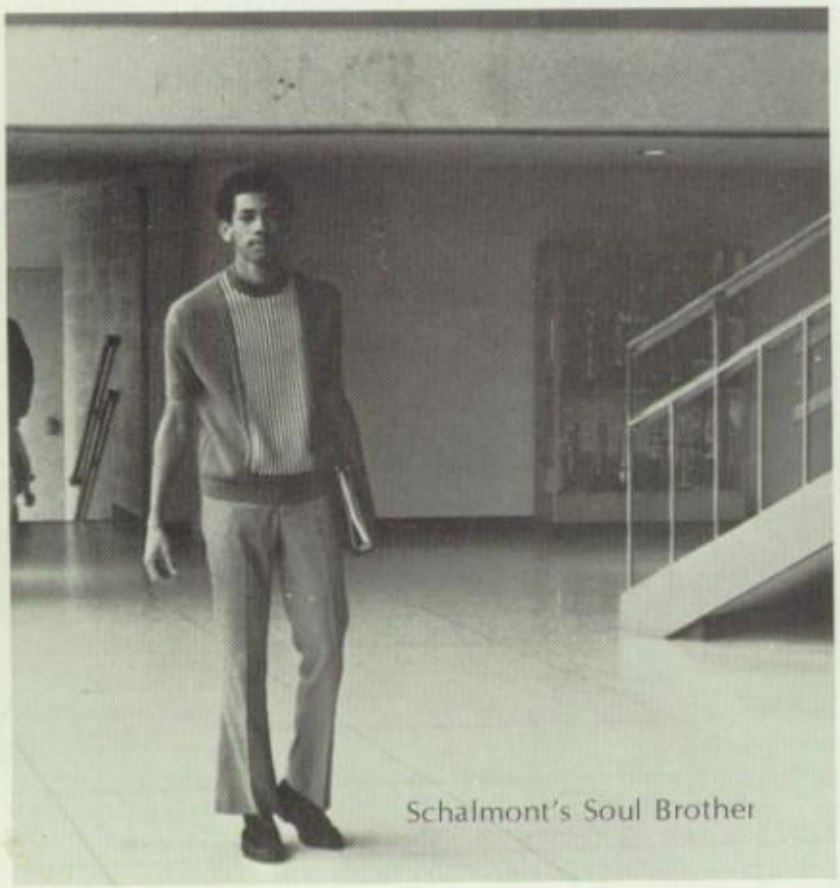
Schalmont – a place of learning for many young students, Freshmen to Seniors. English, history, math, the sciences – all these we learned or were expected to learn. Yet this was not the only aspect of high school life. Perhaps the most significant thing Schalmont has taught us is how to live among others – how to make friends, how to be an individual in a group, how to face disappointments, and how to deal with prejudice among people.

The students at Schalmont have generally achieved a success in these areas that has not yet been equaled by others in our society.

There were those of us who were alone, and there were some who felt no need for any understanding of their loneliness. But there were also the concerned among us; the students who were willing to ignore group status when necessary and accept responsibility. It is to this majority that our school owes its success in teaching a valuable lesson in living. It could be said that Schalmont has been a microcosm of the society we will enter as young adults.

Perhaps the lessons learned in the corridors of Schalmont far surpass those learned in the classroom.





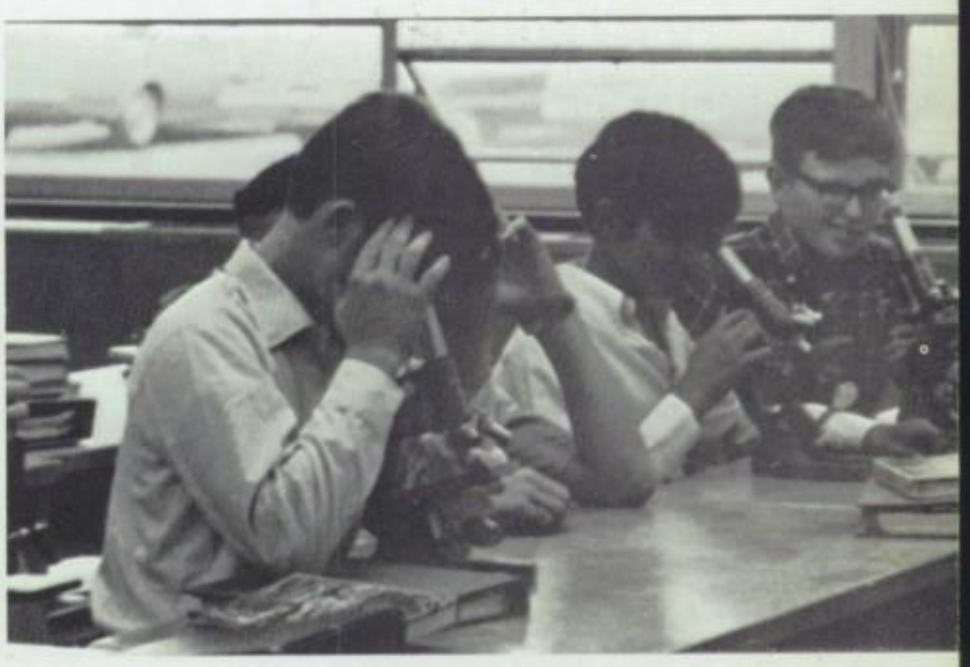
Schalmont's Soul Brother

The beginning of our knowledge is that which we acquire in books, but the result of this knowledge is the broadening insight of ourselves.

"You would know in words that which you have always known in thought.
. . . But let there be no scales to weigh your unknown treasure;
And seek not the depths of your knowledge with staff or sounding line.
For self is a sea bondless and measureless."
(The Prophet)

In a place of hundreds, a moment alone.

Things go better with Coke!



What the ¢@&# is that!

Dress Code?

. . . There were times we felt a part of Schalmont more than other times. — While cheering our football team on to victory or encouraging them after a defeat. We were there when the anxious crowds clapped and stomped along with our cheerleaders, spurring the basketball team on to score.

— And there were the times of pride for Schalmont — the spring we accepted the Colonial Council Championship for track.

We have also known sadness. It was this we felt as we watched the last bonfire, for as seniors, we knew this would be our last pep-rally, our last football game, and the last track meet we would participate in as students of Schalmont.

. . . But we will always have the memories of the games and the crowds and of being a part of Schalmont.

Boy, the J.V. team had a real good season this year. The first and only big glory game came when we beat Cohoes. The rest were a bunch of bummers. But that didn't stop our great team. Masucci, while getting his foot taped, almost fell out the emergency window. At practice, Dominelli got hold of the ball and ran the wrong way, while Partington succeeded in making a glorious one yard punt against Watervliet. Even while swimming through a lake of mud Bonk trudged on which prepared us for one of our biggest challenges, tackling the apples that the apple machine man threw to us. This finished our season and what a season it was. What a team!

Hey, we had a good season – and ate our share of orange slices.

We were all a hopeful bunch. And went into the season with a lust to win. We were all set except for Mark Tripoli who went most of the season without soccer shoes because no store carried any small enough. Yup, we were prepared all right. We lost our first game which put Mr. Zentz in the hospital with an ulcer attack, but luckily we were able to have Mr. Miller assume the role of our fearless leader. But we came through. Dave Bonthron proved to be our high scorer. Keith Hunter used his head and put some soccer balls on top of Cohoes High.

Throughout the season, eagle-eyed Aragona kept a good watch for passable chicks from the bus. Injuries were few, but when we had them we knew not of them. Craig Pangburn broke his arm early in Troy's game and played till the end unaware of it. All in all it was a good season. We totaled 25 goals – the most ever scored.

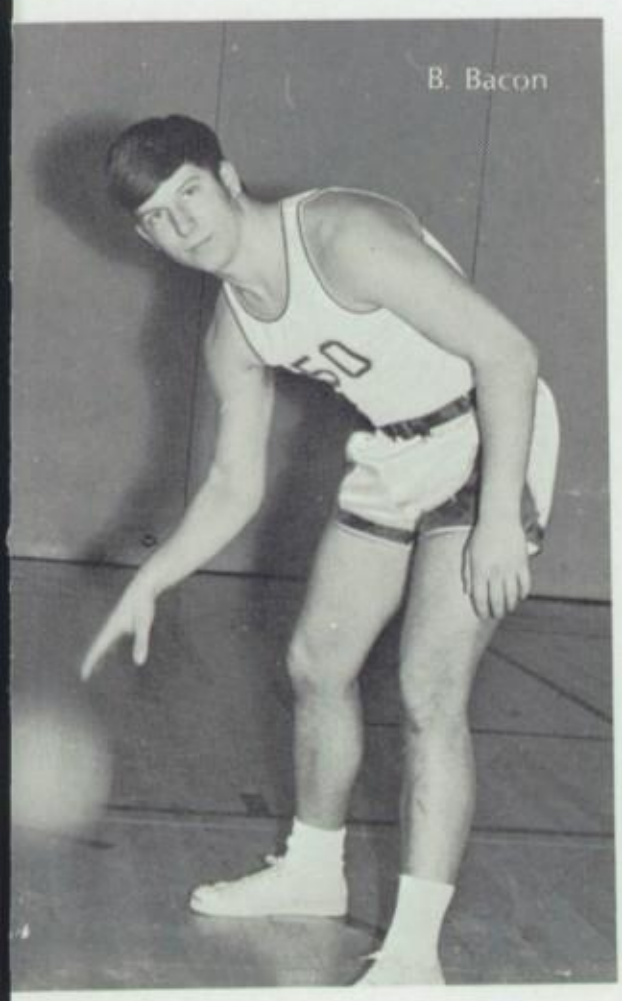
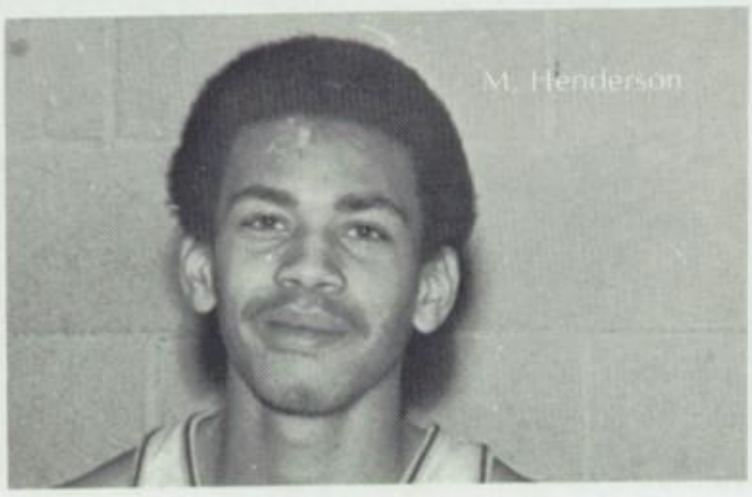
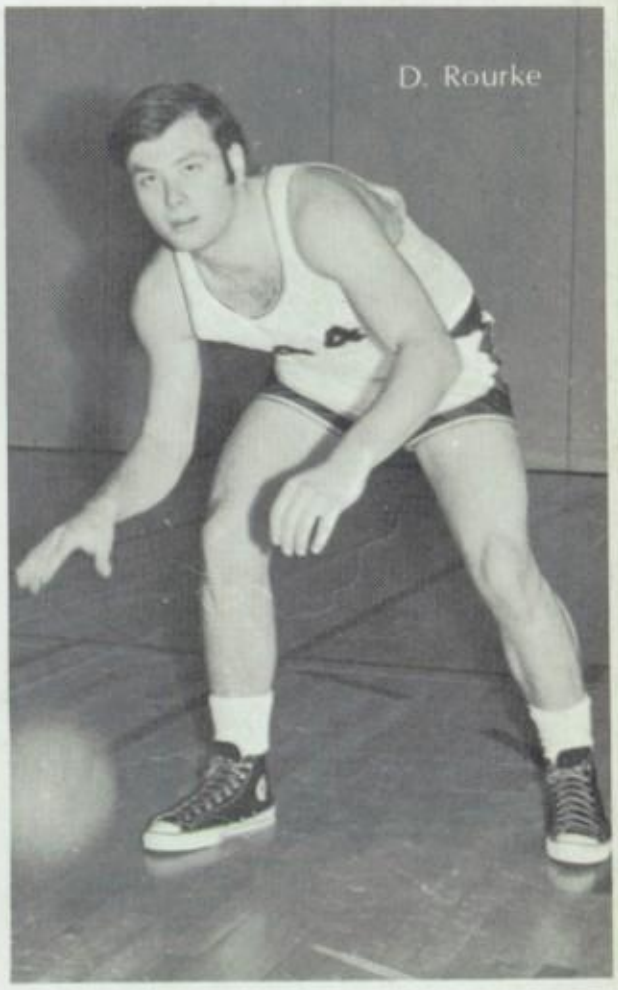
THE MIGHTY, MIGHTY SABRES

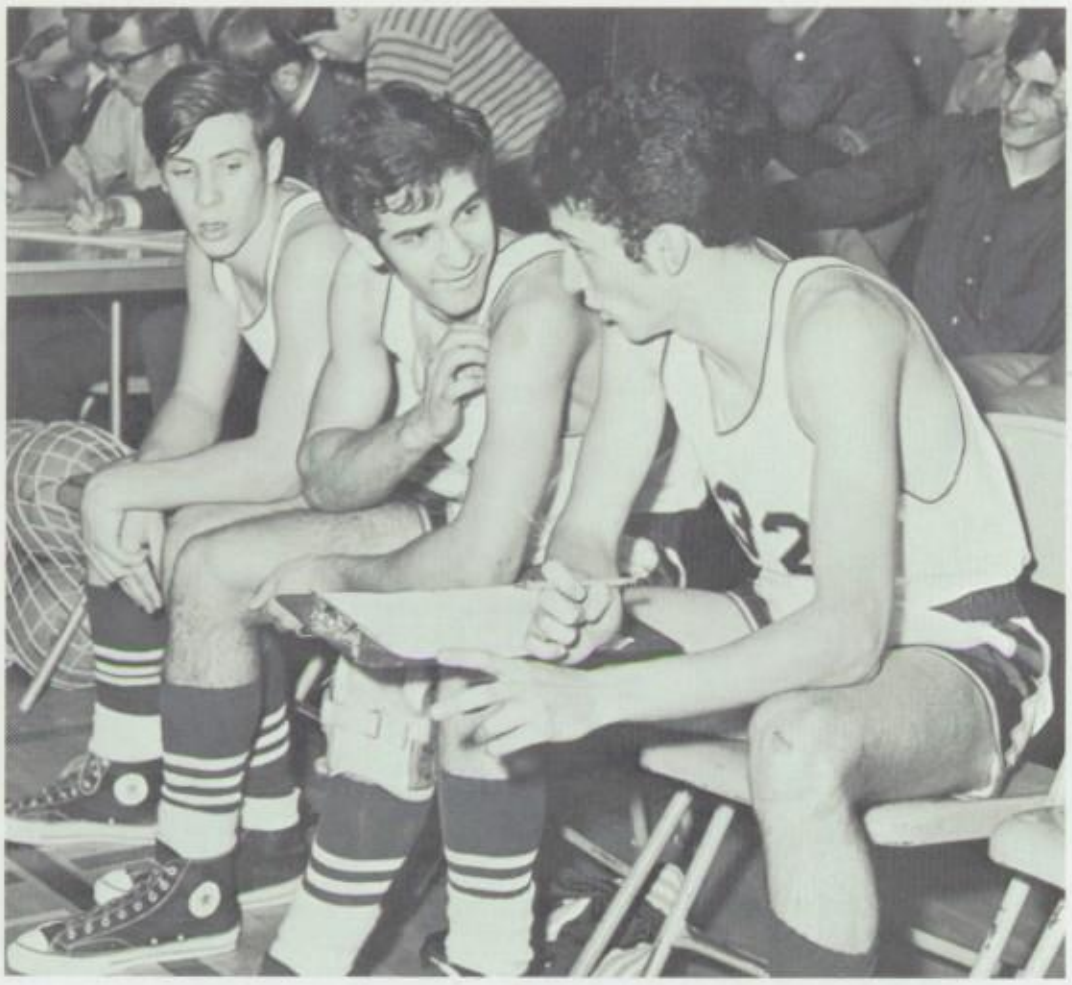






VARSITY HOOP

COACH: Oppedisano
Mr. Nice Guy



Our basketball team was terrific, the guys were great and the coach was something else. Of course there were the bad times and the close games but our SABRES came through as did the fans, through crunching snow, lost spectator buses and being stranded at the army depot. For many of the guys this is their last year, but our team will still be great next year even if, to us seniors, there will be no players like Kochem, Mundon, Pollak, Leggiero, Fatum and the rest. The team, after winning or losing at an away game would have to face the excruciating cold drizzles, called showers. Even though this and some "relaxing conversation" with the Big "O" they would still emerge as our SABRES, our mighty, mighty SABRES.

COACH: Bouck

Basketball is a game of defense and offense. Our defense is good but our offense is something else. Our shooters are the greatest. Partington's 40 foot jump shots are something even though he hasn't made any. Rourke's unique half court shot was a real crowd pleaser. Even funnier is when Mike goes to block and nails the kid in the face. Salerno's defense is all arms and no feet and Jefferson practices for Hughes have paid off. Also "Speedy" Mangano can always get the ball in the basket. Cobleskill was really funny. The gym was a reconverted bomb shelter. We ran through a hall in our towels to get to a shower. In spite of all this the J.V. team pulled through. We were gr-r-reat!!!

FROSH HOOP

Well guys, the basketball season came to a close with a standing of six wins and four losses (we looked alot better than the records show.)

Our team being made up of freshmen, there were mistakes made in the game that were very costly, and perhaps with a little more experience we can improve our record.

We think we had a fairly good season, and the team believes that with a few more behind us we can prove to be an outstanding varsity team.

We had everything going for us; a new mat complements of the Booster Club, and this year, for the first time, we were viewed by our own classmen as well as our parents. We starved sometimes for three days to get off the extra five pounds, so that when we weighed in, we were at our level. Most of all, we enjoyed the shouts while we tumbled on the mat.
Throw in the half!
Reverse!

Watch your weight!

Schalmont's track team had a fantastic season last spring, although emerging victorious was not the only reward our team experienced. For example, there was the time we came rushing off the bus at our first away meet only to find ourselves in the girl's locker room! And can we ever forget Twinkletoes and Mummyman? Yes, it was a good year — and a very good team.

TENNIS

Last year's tennis team was filled with many memorable moments. A record was set by Stu Smith's bombardment of tennis balls over our fence, and Steve Phelps was so interested in preparing for becoming a senior that he practiced ping pong more than he did tennis. Yes, we're going to have a tough time topping last year's season, but we'll give it a try. Ready Stu?

BASEBALL

With four weeks of strenuous practice under our belts, the Schalmont varsity baseball team was ready for one of it's most successful seasons of all time.

First of all came the pitching staff – Jim O'Bray with the slow curve and Bruce Bacon with a hopeful fast ball that the whole team could hit.

The boys in the other postions always did quite a job, too – and this year we're hoping for an even greater season – backed by seniors!

WE'RE THE FRESHMEN!
This is great!
We're finally here, A part of the high school (Who says freshmen are kids?)
– More learning, more freedom, more fun.
And we can use the candy and apple machines.
And join all the sports, and go to all the dances
– And be a part of Schalmont.
We're making all kinds of friends.
and discovering things –
maturity, knowledge,
and most of all, people.
A funny thing – teachers are human.
It's a good feeling, being a big kid.
It's weird, really weird.
How did we get along without you, Mr. O?
Our freshmen year is spent wishing we were seniors.
– Just once we'd like to give a senior a shove.
But we'll be patient, and wait for our chance
To reign over Schalmont.
This is all very exciting and new.

JUNIORS

"We've Almost Made It — We're the . . . Juniors!"
It's a tough year. But it's worth it.
Next year we're seniors — that's something to look forward to.
And we're involved; We're helping out.
We like the seniors — They're friendly this year — but we still can't get in the senior lounge — Oh well, next year.
For now we can plan the Junior Prom — the event of the year. Our counselors say we should be thinking of college, but it seems so far away. We've still got to look up to seniors. But we're looked up to by underclassmen. It feels as though we're surrounded by those above us and those below us. It's a good feeling.
We have room to breathe. And we're finally seeing our school — REALLY seeing it — as a good school — one we can be proud of and even feel a twinge of regret upon leaving next year. But we've still got a lot ahead of us. This is a good year.
— one to remember
When we're seniors, and wishing we were Juniors again.

Seniors

BEING A SENIOR MEANS:

Looking forward, reflecting on the past.

Worries, pressures, and tensions.

Stealing old furniture and collecting papers. Making friends and being idolized. Regretting leaving, yet enjoying our freedom. A changed atmosphere; It's conscious, It's aware.

We've had more experience –

(Or does it only seem that way?)

This is relief; this is sadness.

It is being involved, being active.

– Evoking the spirit of Schalmont.

We're leaders now, we've attained the arrogance, the aura and style of all seniors.

– And perhaps some understanding,

some tolerance and admiration for friends and underclassmen;

And some envy,

– for they will return to these corridors,

to these rooms we leave empty.

We'll all say we're glad to leave,

But each one of us Will long for these years –

As an experience and a way of life.

Michele
you a great

stays that way. Good

SENIOR PLAY

THE MIRACLE WORKER

We began with hopes of producing a fine play – Through tedious weeks of rehearsals, we hoped to live up to our expectations. Gradually the play, "The Miracle Worker", took form, and we found we had surpassed our wildest dreams. We had given our audience a moving experience and sensitive portrayals. We were rewarded with a standing ovation.

TRACES

MAY 24, 1969

What? We have to plan for May's prom in September?
Indifference then, but anticipation
grows as the date nears
Breaking tradition
by holding it at the Golden Fox
Renting tuxes, buying gowns . . .
Making hair appointments . . .

Then comes the DAY!
No night license to drive . . .
Nerves on end . . .

Finally we've made it!
But where are the flowers we paid for?
Where is Mary B.?
How come the orchestra
doesn't know the theme song???
Dancing . . .
How come we have to share a table with 50 other people???
Who's the Queen?
Having our picture taken by the fountain
Getting stuck behind
the $425 potted palm
Dining on punch, cheese, and crackers
And then . . .
We're left with wilted bouquets tickets torn in half and happy memories in bits and pieces

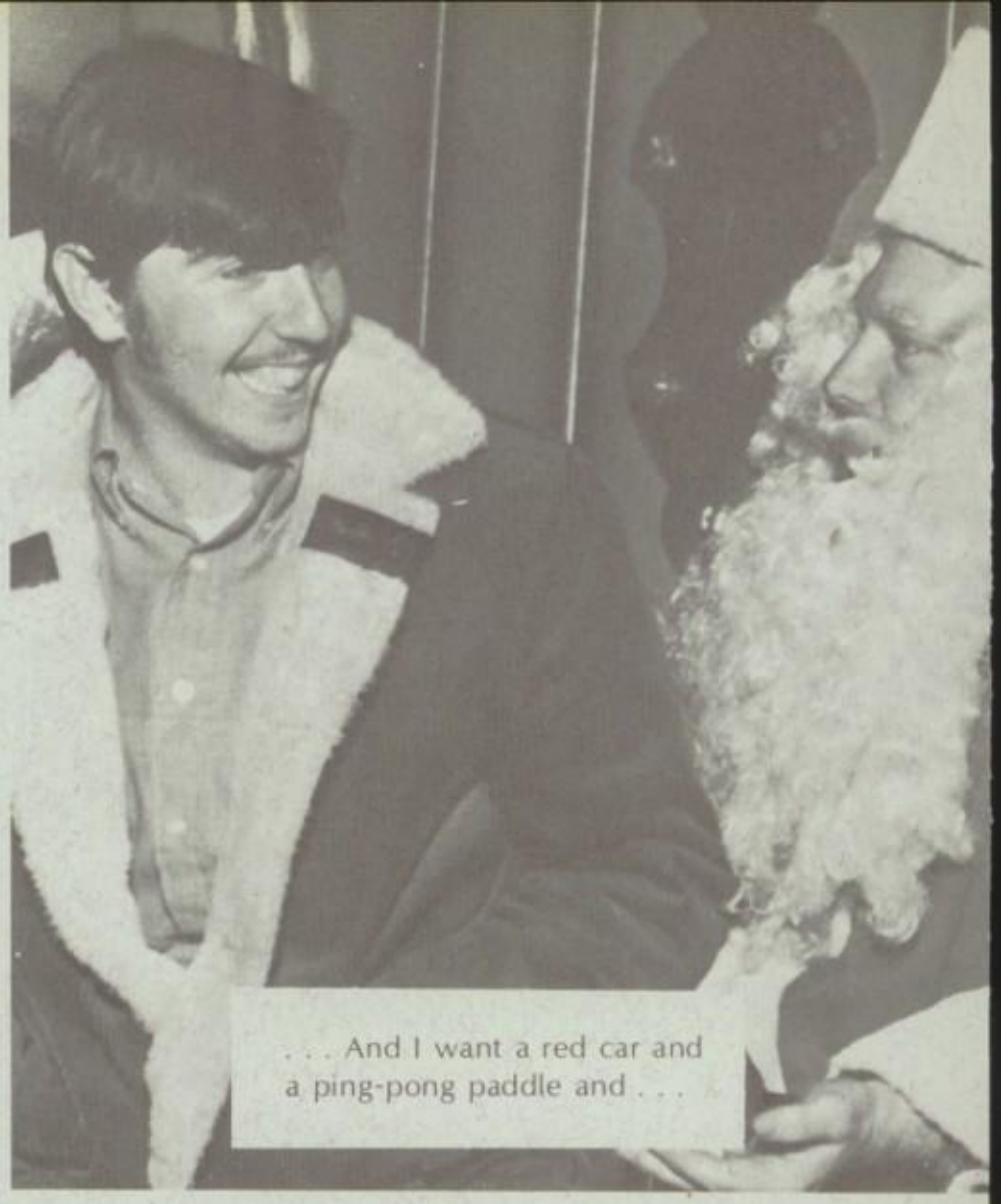
Hosts: J. Savage, L. Parker, R. Malczyk, J. Zappiera, L. LeGere, R. Sheehan, P. Hasbrouck, Hostesses; S. Teppo, D. LaVallee, J. Morette, P. Krygowski, T. Carosella, C. Marx, D. Martin.



. . . And I want a red car and a ping-pong paddle and . . .

On September 6, we piled into the same old overhauled, over-ridden yellow busses, and rode to that familiar red brick building. At last that long awaited time had come. We were Seniors! It was our turn now. Our turn to wander about the halls without a pass. We could go to the Senior Lounge and play ping-pong, drink coke, or be with that special friend.

It was our turn to laugh at the underclassmen, (For we were once in their shoes and were laughed at.) We piled into that school with different hopes and different ideas. This year the yearbook would be green and white, and we'd get it in time to get those long-remembered autographs. The Senior Lounge would be the best ever.

We'd push our team to victory.

Our school would have more spirit – we finally learned the Alma Mater and sang it at the basketball games.

We were the school leaders.

We yelled the loudest, broke the most traditions (Or at least we thought we did.)

Now this is our Senior year.

We've waited so long to get this far, but somehow we wish tomorrow wouldn't come so soon.

FUN

Activities make you feel wanted. They give you a chance to relax with your friends. You can make your appearance at them in anything from a dirty, faded army surplus jacket to a neatly pressed suit, yet you always have a good time. You had fun at those paper drives when no one showed up and at that dance when you were there but the band wasn't. What about those supervised study halls when all the clubs you belonged to met at the same time? And the days you had to make the decision whether to go to the senior lounge or just stand in the halls until Mr. Corrigan came by and pointed you in the right direction. But whether it was making posters or burning your fingers while making candy apples, it was all worthwhile. The reward for many tedious hours of work was that of sheer enjoyment.

INTRAMURALS

GIRLS SOCCER

"Get down there!" "Pass that ball!" "Stay on your feet!" These are the shouts you would have heard had your attended a soccer game this fall – a girl's soccer game, that is.

Girls from timid freshmen to rowdy seniors were willing to play to win – in blistering winds, rain, even snow. But there were never any arguments. The only complaints were about our sore black and blue legs. Remember girls?

Drama is an art. It deals with the feelings of people. Drama is a whole new world, open to whoever cares to spend the time. An organization caring to spend the time is the Drama Club. THE SCHOOL NEWSPAPER

Our newspaper, under the direction of Mr. Baker, was the voice of the students. The content of the paper was concerned not only with activities in the school, but also those outside the school. One could always count on Charlie's famous editorials. His editorials dealt with opinion and consequently caused minor uproars. The students walked excitedly down the halls dramatically explaining their views to whoever would listen. People began to listen and care. And isn't that what a good newspaper should do?

Student Council

When we started, the task before us seemed an easy one. However, as the months progressed, we found it to be more than we had bargained for. Our first deadline was met well in advance, and the material shipped to Maryland. Then came the next deadline. Joan needed art board, so we gave it to her. She spent many a night sitting up late working feverishly on her ads, or so we thought. JoAnn had nightmares concerning the 56 3-R forms she had to do in one night. Yes, we were really organized. Mary spent the whole day in the senior lounge cropping pictures and doing layouts only to have them redone later. Margaret's senior directory never got any farther than her notebook, but her copy was really great. And poor David. We made him take so many pictures at the last minute. We were grateful to our yearbook advisor, Mary B., who worked with us every night and took us home at all hours even though

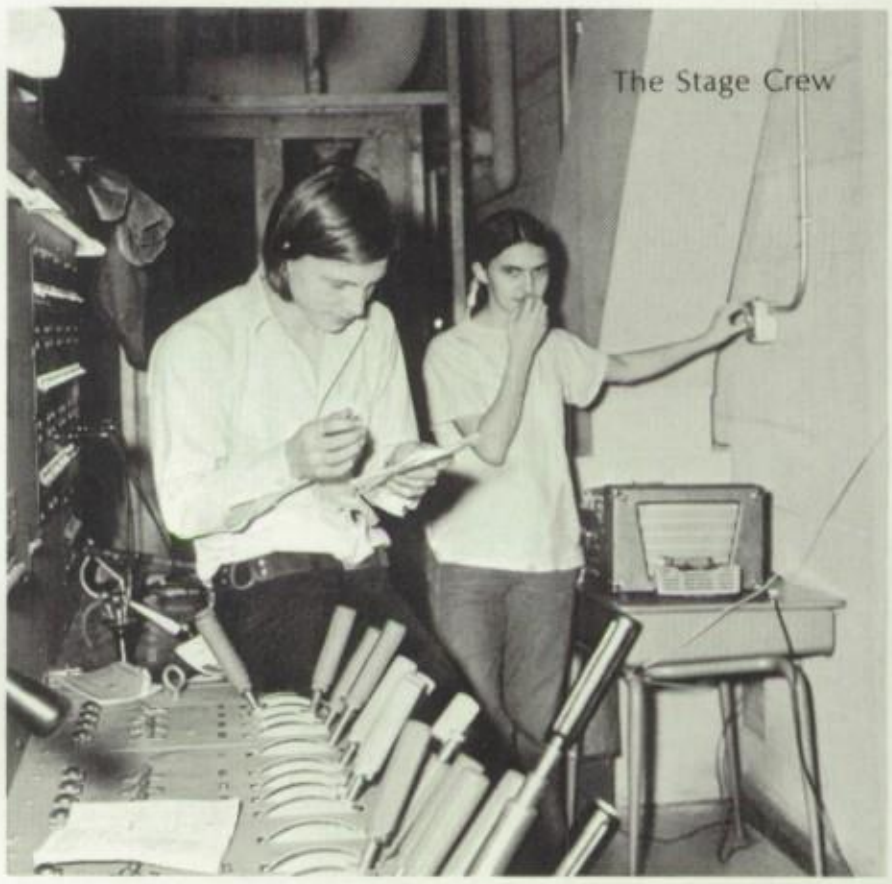
le sabre

her horses were starving. Bert always ended up sitting in the back seat because she lived the farthest out and always got home last. Bert didn't mind though. After doing artwork, copy writing, 3R forms and cropping pictures and typing captions in one night, she enjoyed the rest. Nevertheless we were determined to meet those deadlines, no matter what it took.

We found out how the school looks at 11:00 at night when there is nobody here but the Custodians. Many a night was spent eating pizza from the Five Corners while we rested our feet on the secretaries' desks and told dirty jokes. It gave us a good feeling to see a semi-finished yearbook each time we got the proofs back. It was pretty good, too, when we realized that even through all this grief, we were actually putting a book together.

THE JUNIOR CLASS PRESENTS:

MAN IN THE BOWLER HAT



The Stage Crew

THE BALD SOPRANO

Time: 8:00 P.M. and 2:30 P.M.
Date: February 7th and 8th
Place: Schalmont Tri-County Auditorium

On these dates and at these times the class of '71 presented three one act plays "The Man in the Bowler Hat," "The Bald Soprano," and "Sorry Wrong Number," under the direction of Mrs. Mueller, Miss Wendt, with Linda Lenhart assisting. For months those "jolly, jolly juniors" could be seen painting, hammering, acting, printing up programs and doing other jobs involved in putting on a play, or in their case three. The tensions and excitement mounted as those important days approached. Then before anyone realized it, opening night was here. One only had to pay 33⅓ cents for each play but the enjoyment which they gave was worth much more than that.

ACTIVITIES: JUNIORS

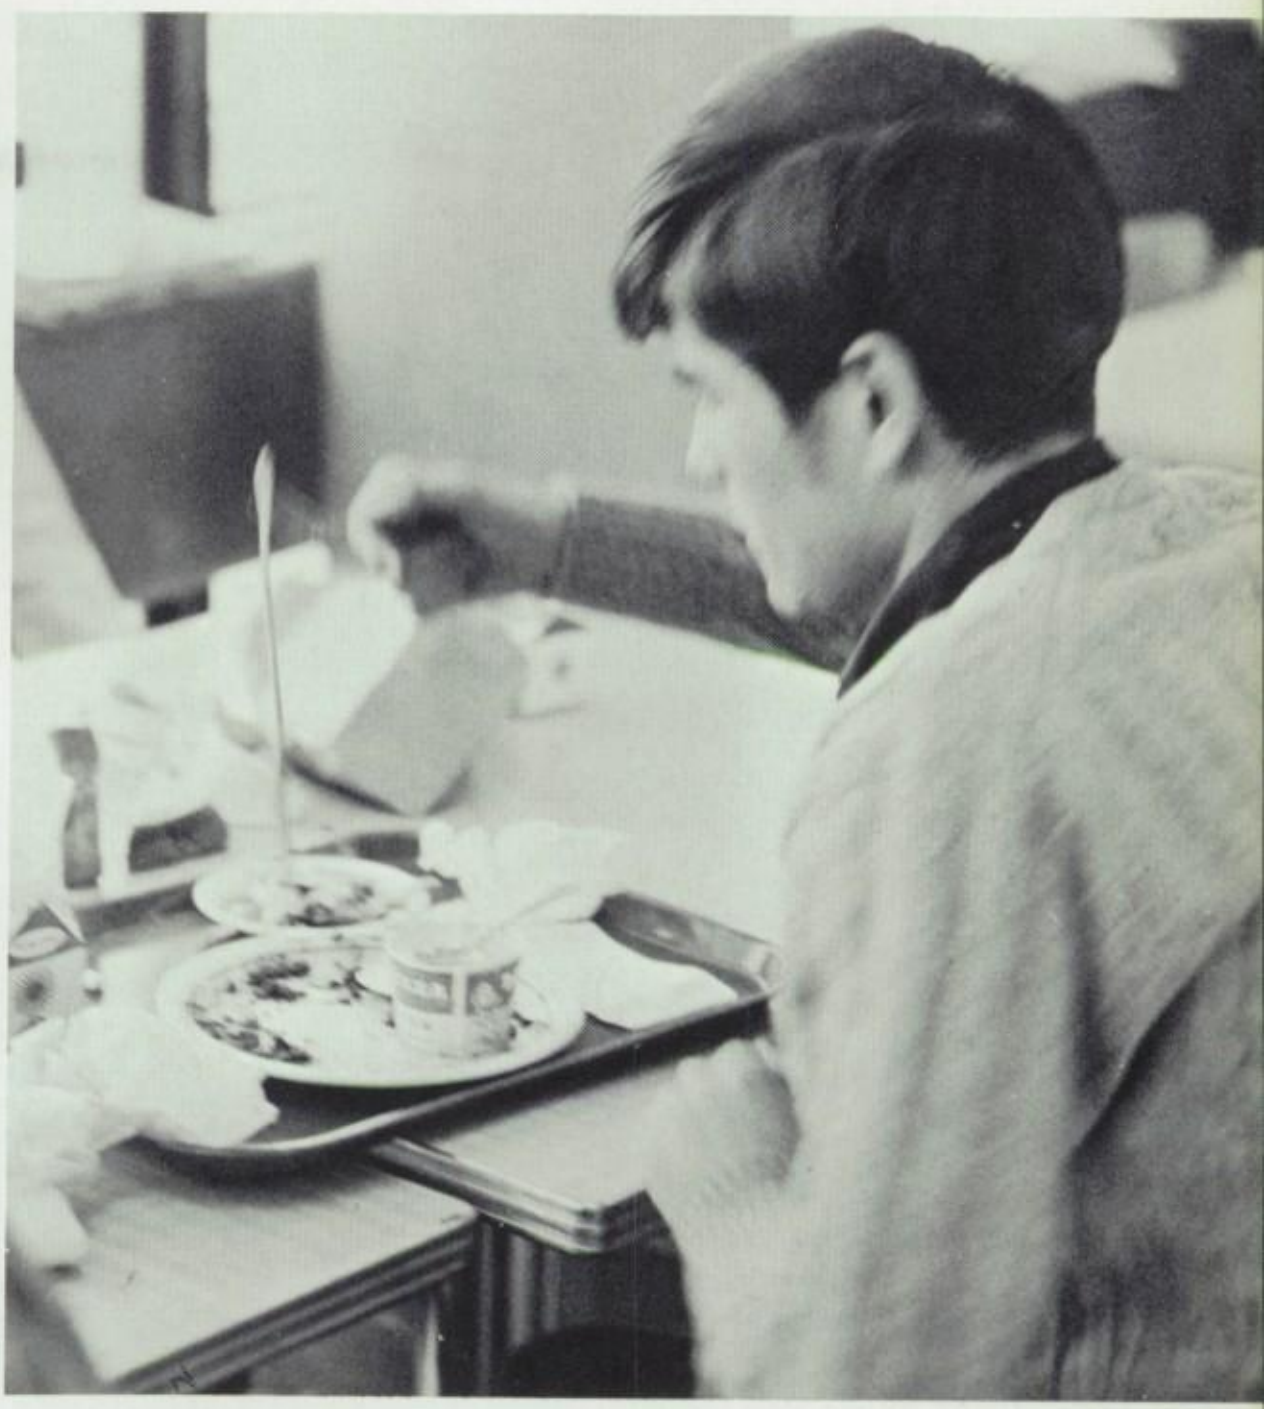
FRESHMEN

There's the bell – have to hurry to another 45 minutes of lectures and notes, and whispering plans for the week-end to the person sitting next to you.



What's for lunch? Bacon and bean soup or cream cheese and jelly sandwiches?

Somehow having lunch with a few friends makes everything right.

The Band. We're the music makers. We're the ones who keep you in touch with all of the modern band music. We're the ones who go out in freezing weather to practice the formations for the Saturday afternoon football games. We're also the people who march during half time and show the opponents that we care about our team. You can hear us in the band room every Monday night after school. Mondays are our practice nights. We all get together to practice for that upcoming event, The Concert. Concert night is THE night for us. We all don our uniforms and prepare to play our best. Every one of us is nervous, even if we don't admit it. Everyone hopes that the high C will come out a high C and not a flat C. The band awaits its cue. Suddenly the curtains are open, Mr. Grant raises his arms, and you start playing your best. The drums come in on time and the clarinet solo is great. That part where the timing was off before just happens to be perfect tonight. Then it's over. Everyone applauds and the curtains close. It was tremendous! You were good and Mr. Grant was great. All the rehearsals and hard work have come together to compose one concert, one good one. But the hard work formed more than just a concert, it formed a good organization. We're the Band. We're your music makers.

GOOD EVENING, WELCOME TO THE SEVEN O'CLOCK NEWS.

O little town of Bethlehem how still we see thee lie.

TODAY WHILE GREETING A CROWD IN DALLAS, TEXAS, PRESIDENT JOHN KENNEDY WAS ASSASSINATED. THE DALLAS POLICE OFFERED NO INFORMATION CONCERNING THE ASSASSINATION.

Above thy deep and dreamless sleep

THE PRESIDENT ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT TROOPS IN VIET NAM WOULD BE INCREASED TO FULL CAPACITY. IN THIS WAY, HE HOPES TO PUT AN END TO THE WAR QUICKLY AND WITH A MINIMUM LOSS OF U.S. LIVES.

The silent stars go by.

THE REV. DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING JR., NOBEL PEACE PRIZE WINNER AND ACKNOWLEDGED LEADER OF THE NONVIOLENT CIVIL RIGHT MOVEMENT, WAS SHOT TO DEATH BY A SNIPER IN MEMPHIS, TENN. THE ASSASSINATION APPARENTLY OCCURRED WHILE MR. KING WAS TAKING A BREATH OF FRESH AIR ON HIS HOTEL VERANDA.

Yet in thy dark streets shineth

THE BURNING OF THE AMERICAN FLAG WAS REPEATED IN CENTRAL PARK BY A GROUP OF DISORDERLY YOUTHS. AT THE SAME TIME, COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY STUDENTS WERE INVOLVED IN A VIOLENT BRICK THROWING DEMONSTRATION. THE VICTORS AREN'T KNOWN

The everlasting light.

SENATOR ROBERT KENNEDY WAS SHOT IN THE HEAD TODAY WHILE CELEBRATING A VICTORY IN THE CALIFORNIA PRIMARY. THE ASSASSINATION OCCURRED ON THE TELEVISION BEFORE MILLIONS OF PEOPLE. THE BELIEVED ASSASSIN WAS HELD BY ROOSEVELT GREER. HE IS BEING HELD ON SUSPICION OF MURDER. MORE NEWS OF THIS AT A LATER DATE.

The hopes and fears of all the years

THE U.S. FIGHTING MEN IN SOUTH VIET NAM ARE NOW SHARING THE BURDEN OF KILLING THE ENEMY. THE U.S. HAD CONDUCTED CRAM COURSES AND EQUIPPED 887,000 SOLDIERS WITH NEW M-16 RIFLES.

A YOUNG MAN WAS CLOCKED AT 80 MPH THIS EVENING BEFORE THE CAR WHICH HE WAS OPERATING HIT ANOTHER KILLING TWO CHILDREN AND THEIR PARENTS. THE DRIVER WAS RETURNING FROM A CHRISTMAS PARTY AND WAS INTOXICATED. THIS CHRISTMAS EVE CRASH RESULTED IN THE DEATH OF ALL FIVE INVOLVED.

And gathered all above

IN LONDON TODAY, MILITANT PROTESTANTS PARADED WITH PLACARDS URGING THE STATE TO CONTINUE DEVLIN'S UPRISING IN THE AMMAGH GAOL. MISS DEVLIN'S DEFENSE WAS PUNCTUATED WITH FOOT STOMPING AND APPLAUSE. MODERATES ON BOTH SIDES FEARED A NEW OUTBURST OF VIOLENCE AT THE TRIAL. THE ONLY INCIDENT, HOWEVER, WAS THE BURNING OF AN EFFIGY OF LUNDY IN THE PROTESTANT AREA.

While mortals sleep, the angels keep their wandering watch of love.

A NEW SYSTEM OF SELECTIVE SERVICE HAS BEEN INSTITUTED BY THE U.S. GOVERNMENT. IT CONSISTS OF A LOTTERY WHICH RUNS ACCORDING TO BIRTHDAYS. THEREFORE, THE DRAFTING IS DONE BY CHANCE. OFFICIALS BELIEVE THIS TO BE A FAIR AND EFFICIENT METHOD OF RAISING ARMED FORCES. SOME MIGHT SAY FATE IS THE GUIDING LIGHT IN A NINETEEN YEAR OLD'S LIFE.

And praises sing to God the King

A NEW FLAG WAS RAISED OVER ALCATRAZ PRISON TODAY. IT APPEARS THAT FOURSCORE IMPOVERISHED INDIANS LITERALLY TOOK OVER THE PRISON. ONE INDIAN OBSERVED, "IT'S IN BAD CONDITION, BUT IT'S STILL BETTER THAN THE RESERVATIONS. AT LEAST WE HAVE A CHANCE OF LIVING HERE."

How silently the wondorous gift is given

THE PENTAGON REPORTED THAT A RECENT DESTRUCTION OF A VIETNAMESE VILLAGE INCLUDED THE SLAYING OF INNOCENT WOMEN AND CHILDREN. THE MAIN ISSUE SEEMS NOT TO BE THE SADNESS OF THE EVENT, BUT WHETHER OR NOT THE ARMY WAS FOLLOWING ORDERS.

And peace to men on earth.

We also learn. We learn to communicate with you, the students. After all, isn't that why we came to Schalmont? You remind us how to think young. And sometimes we have a chance to straighten you out. And if we succeed – well, for a day or two you give us the inspiration we need to feel it's all worthwhile. We like to feel we're your friends too. Whether we teach math, geography or football, if as you leave us you are a little more accurate or knowledgable, or even coordinated, we've done our job. We try to do our job well. Sometimes we lecture and criticize, and you leave our room swearing never to come back. But you do, because sooner or later there will be a day when we can talk about the things you want to, when we can even joke around a little. And as you hurry out that day, rushing to lunch or some equally vital activity, maybe you'll look back and say, "have a nice week-end." That's one of the benefits of teaching we did not learn in college.

Most Asst. Superintendents don't have time for kids. Mr. Handel makes time. He tries hard to keep our school running smoothly. He gets all the difficult problems to settle, but we know he's doing his best for us. Mr. Handel does his job well.

A friend is someone who really cares, who understands you and listens and talks to you even when he is very busy. A friend is our own Mr. Corrigan.

Once a mild mannered chemistry teacher, Mr. Corrigan is now our house principal. If your luck is right, you can get on his guest list and visit him in his corner during homeroom. Even if your name is not on the list, sometimes you wish it were just so you don't have to stay in homeroom and listen to his corny "Corrigan's Corners."

He takes an interest in what is going on at Schalmont. During the football season he can be seen rooting and cheering along with the cheerleaders. He is always at basketball games wearing that bright green booster club button and helping the Service Squad sell tickets. Most of all, Mr. Corrigan likes to be with US, even if he can't play golf as often as he'd like. He is an administrator, but he's also our friend. Mr. Corrigan is a good guy
